Mr. E. Ikkanda Warriar (Cheruthuruthi): That other has been prevented; but he has a right to get a license for himself.

Dr. A. R. Menon (Minister for Rural Development): Sir, I want the House to understand the position. In olden times these canals were auctioned indiscriminately and given to the highest bidder. Subsequently, there were representations from the agricultural interests concerned that these canals are not opened or closed down at the proper time and that the prime consideration is only fishing without regard to the agricultural interests. When I was put in charge of this Department, I, in consultation with the previous and the present Diwan Peishkars, suggested that some method should be adopted so that these canals may be given in auction to the adjacent land-holders themselves. In many cases we have succeeded in giving these canals to the adjacent land-holders themselves so that such difficulties may not arise. But human nature being what it is, what took place is this. The moment we restricted it to the landholders they took advantage of the situation and began to bid for Rs. 300 or Rs. 400 and then re-auction it for Rs. 1,500. In all these cases our order is to take the previous three years dues, find the average and give it to the landholders even without auction. But the landholders did not behave properly as Government anticipated they would, and in some cases they even refused to take the canal because they knew perfectly well that the Government will only give the canals to themselves. Therefore, in such cases the Diwan Peishkar was compelled to take action and he was given liberty where he thinks fit to take action on his own initiative and on his own responsiblity. Now, he has taken that responsiblity, and as was mentioned here there is no appeal to his decision.

Mr. E. Ikkanda Warriar (Cheruthuruthi): The question is whether that landholder was not entitled to get a licence.

Mr. President: It refers to a question of law. The Diwan Peishkar has taken up a strong attitude with regard to this question. So you must take the necessary steps in a court of law to prevent the Diwan Peishkar from auctioning or obtain authority to exercise your right of fishing.
